Some people think that the aim of education is merely to give knowledge. Those people want students to read books, books, books and so nothing else but add to their knowledge. Others believe that knowledge alone is not enough; only that which enables a man to earn his living can be called education. Such people think that bread is more important than anything else. Still others believe that education should aim it solely at making good citizens and good patriots. All these people see only one of the several purposes of education. As a matter of fact, education should aim at all these three things together. It should give men knowledge, make them self-reliant and able to serve others. Education should not produce citizens, who while they love their own freedom, take the freedom of others. It should produce men who love their own country but who do not want to harm other countries.

OR

Paraphrase the following poem.

I saw a boy with eager eye
 Open a book upon a stall
 And read as he'd behaviour it all;
 Which when the stall-man did espy,
 Spoon to the boy I heard him call
 "you, sir, you never buy a book,
 Therefore, in one you shall not look"
 The boy passed slowly on, and with a sigh.
 He wished he never had been taught to read,
 Then of the old churl's books he should have had no need.

- b) Make a precis of the following passage and give suitable title. [10]

Among the manifold misfortunes that may befall humanity the loss of health is one of the severest. All the joys which life can give cannot outweigh the sufferings of the sick. Give the sick man everything and leave him to his sufferings and he will feel that the world is lost to him. Lay him on a soft silken couch, he will nevertheless groan sleepless under the pressure of sufferings, while the miserable beggar blessed with health sleeps sweetly on the hard ground. Spread his tables with dainty meals and choice drinks, and he will thrust back the hand that proffers them, and envy the poor man who thoroughly enjoys his day crust. Surround him with the pomp of kings; let his chair be a throne, and his crutch a world swaying scepter; he will look with contemptuous eye on marble, on gold, and on purple and would deem himself happy, could he enjoy, even were it under a thatched roof, the health of the member of his servants.
