[10]

Prevention is always better than cure. It is recognised that the only way to completely get rid of malaria is by getting rid of mosquitoes which cause it. This disease is always associated with damp and marshy land. It is not because the land is damp, but because the static water is the breeding place of mosquitoes which begin their life cycle as a larva in the water. Malaria does not frequently occur in dry and desert country because mosquitoes cannot breed in such regions. Preventing the breeding of mosquitoes in static water is the only way to destroy them. Open water vessels should be covered in the breeding seasons with the film of kerosene oil which deprive the larva of air and kills them.

Or any chef-d-oeuvres of engineering, fort, armaments?
